1. Purpose

1.1 About IGNIS CARE LIMITED

At Ignis Care, we aim to provide safe, stable, and person-centred support for people across a range of needs, enabling them to live fulfilling lives in the community.

Ignis Care delivers support for adults and children with mental health conditions, learning disabilities and autism, dementia, sensory and physical disabilities, and other complex needs. We work within supported living and domiciliary care pathways, always ensuring tenancy separation in line with the REACH framework and the Real Tenancy Test.

Our approach is rooted in trauma-informed, values-based care, with a focus on independence, recovery, and preventing crisis escalation. We employ skilled staff who are trained in Positive Behaviour Support (PBS), safeguarding, and specialist interventions, ensuring people are supported safely and compassionately.

Our ambition is to empower each person to achieve their personal goals — whether that means developing daily living skills, sustaining a tenancy, rebuilding relationships, returning to education or employment, or living safely with dignity in later life. We do this through tailored care planning, strong clinical governance, and close collaboration with families, commissioners, housing partners, and NHS/local authority professionals.

- Personal Fulfilment – enabling people to pursue meaningful goals, activities and relationships that give purpose and joy.

All staff at IGNIS CARE LIMITED will receive the training necessary for their role in Care Plan and review procedures and will receive regular updates when required.

5.2 Service Commencement

All Service Users will have a full assessment prior to the start of Support services and a review within an agreed initial period of Support commencing.

An assessment forms the basis of Service User's Care Plans, which sets out the level of Support the Service User will need, as well as details of their medication, diet, social interests and end of life preferences.

The assessment is a discussion about what Service Users want to achieve by receiving Support from IGNIS CARE LIMITED. The assessment is to talk about:

- What they need support with

- Any risks identified will be formally and individually assessed as part of the Care Plan process and an appropriate written risk management plan created for each risk
- IGNIS CARE LIMITED will work in partnership with the housing provider partners where applicable

IGNIS CARE LIMITED needs to get to know each Service User. They must conduct a needs assessment so they can plan how they will deliver the Service Users' Support. This is written in a Care Plan which any staff at IGNIS CARE LIMITED delivering the Service Users' Support will read and follow.

It is recommended that the Service User seeking Support has a family member or person they trust with them for the assessment, particularly if they have any specific communication needs or cannot fully answer questions due to medical reasons.

5.3 Supporting the Service User to be Involved and Involving Carers, Families and Friends

Every Service User has the right to be involved in their Support planning, and where the Service User is unable due to capacity, they will have people act in their best interest.

At the first point of contact the person should be asked whether and how they would like their carers, family, friends and advocates or other people of their choosing (for example, personal assistants) to be involved in discussions and decisions about their care and support, and their wishes followed. This must be reviewed regularly at reviews, or when requested.

- IGNIS CARE LIMITED must ensure that any support or aid required to enable Service User participation is in place
- Support planning will take place in a confidential setting in which the Service User feels comfortable and supported. This will usually take place in the Service User's own home

If the person would like their carers, family, friends and advocates involved:

- Explain the principles of confidentiality, and how these are applied in the best interests of the person
- Discuss with the person and their carers, family, friends and advocates what this would mean for them
- Share information with carers, family, friends and advocates as agreed

If a person lacks the capacity to make a decision about whether they wish their carers, family, friends and advocates to be involved, the provisions of the Mental Capacity Act 2005 must be followed.

5.4 Consent

All staff at IGNIS CARE LIMITED must make sure that the organisation takes into account people's ability to consent, and either the Service User, or a person lawfully acting on their behalf (if they are unable to consent for themselves), must be involved in the planning, management and review of their Support.

Mrs Miriam Chengeto Cummings must make sure that decisions are made by those with the legal authority or responsibility to do so, but they must work within the requirements of the Mental Capacity Act 2005 and best interest requirements, which includes the duty to consult others such as Support Workers, families, advocates and legal representatives where appropriate.

IGNIS CARE LIMITED must comply with the Data Protection Act and UK GDPR and should review how personal and special categories of data are managed in relation to Care Plans in line with its UK GDPR policies.

5.5 Next Steps

- The result of the assessment will be reviewed by management and staff in order to determine the ability of IGNIS CARE LIMITED to meet the Service User's needs and preferences
- If Service User's needs and preferences cannot be met, IGNIS CARE LIMITED must explore the impact of this on them and look at alternatives so that the Service User can make informed decisions about their Support
- The decision to offer or decline the service will be formally notified in writing to the Service User and any purchasing body as soon as possible. IGNIS CARE LIMITED will need to take into account any contractual requirements
- Information about the care, treatment and support services available from IGNIS CARE LIMITED and the associated costs, if applicable, will be provided to the Service User during the assessment in order to enable them to make an informed decision about the service

5.6 Risk Assessment

As part of the overall approach to Support provision, risk assessments must be completed alongside the Care Plan.

Risk assessments for all Service Users include but are not limited to:

- Moving and Handling
- Service User Personal Environment
- Positive Risk Taking - Including activities
- Falls
- Pressure Ulcer Risk Assessment (Waterlow)
- MUST
- Choking
- Oral Health

Once completed, outcomes and level of risk of the risk assessment should be recorded within the relevant Care Plan, as well as clear management strategies for reducing the risk.

For further guidance, staff should refer to the Risk Assessment Policy and Procedure at IGNIS CARE LIMITED.

5.7 Care Plan considerations

Service User Involvement

- Service Users will have the Care Plan purpose and processes explained to them, and will be informed that they have the right to ask for a Care Plan review meeting at any time
- All Service Users will have an individual and personalised set of Care Plans which are designed to support their expressed requirements and desired outcomes from the Support provided by IGNIS CARE LIMITED
- The Care Plan must be written and designed to meet the health, psychological and social needs of the Service User
- Service Users or their legal representative will be encouraged and supported to be fully involved in the design of their Care Plan, being given, at each stage (where possible), choices from which they can choose their preferred option

This policy is Copyright Quality Compliance Systems Ltd. 2025 (Last updated 2025). Use without a current Licence Certificate is strictly prohibited. If you have a current Licence Certificate, it can be accessed in your online account.

Your System details are incomplete and so the content of this policy may not be customised to your organisation.

Agency Involvement

- IGNIS CARE LIMITED has the responsibility for ensuring that all the relevant agencies are invited to have input into the Care Plan process in order to support effective management as part of its multidisciplinary approach to support the Service User's physical, psychological, social and personal health and safety needs
- Care Plans should reflect the recommendations of any external specialist service providers who have relevant input into the Service User's physical, psychological or social health and wellbeing
- Housing provider partners of IGNIS CARE LIMITED will be involved where this is appropriate and relevant to the Service User's needs

Equality and Diversity

- Care Plans must include any elements of Support to meet the equality and diversity needs of the Service User and must be designed not to constrain choices offered to the Service User because of their age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex or sexual orientation

Informed Consent

- The Care Plan must be clear and easy to understand for the Service User, and their signature should be held on the Care Plan documents as evidence of their understanding of an agreement with its contents
- When Service Users do not wish to sign the Care Plan, this decision must be recorded in the Care Plan by the Support Worker and a supporting witness signature
- Service User consent to Support detailed in the Care Plan must be formally obtained before the Care Plan is implemented

Responsibilities

- Care Plans are to be developed by staff who are competent in completing Care Plans and who have the knowledge to inform and involve Service Users in all stages of the Care Plan process
- The Support Worker is responsible for the completion of the Care Plan document in full and signs all documents where indicated. This signature demonstrates the accountability for the planning of Support to meet the Service User's needs

Completion

- All sections of the Care Plan documents will be completed. If a section is not deemed appropriate to that Service User, the words "not applicable" must be entered on the document and signed and dated to indicate that this area is not applicable, stating reasons where possible
- Individual Care Plans will state in clear and factual language the detailed Support requirements needed to instruct staff to meet the Service User's needs identified by the individual assessment procedures
- Care Plans will be designed to manage Service Users' environmental, physical, psychological and social health needs in addition to the prevention or minimisation of potential personal health and safety risks to Service Users
- The involvement of the Service User in the process, the choices offered and the responses must all be recorded
- All Care Plan instructions carried out by staff must be recorded by those staff, reasonably simultaneously. Other actions and matters which may provide useful information for a subsequent review must also be recorded

5.8 The Care Plan

A Care Plan should:

- Be written and designed to meet the accommodation, health, psychological and social needs of the Service User, including:
  - The help Service Users needs to look after their own care and support, manage their conditions, take part in preferred activities, hobbies and interests, and contact relevant support services
  - Health needs, including communication, behaviour, continence needs and chronic pain and skin integrity as well as the support needed to minimise their impact
  - Any requirements for managing medicines
  - Mobility and transport needs, adaptations and any support needed to use them
  - Eating and drinking to maintain a balanced diet
  - Family and friends involvement
  - Palliative and end-of-life care needs, if identified as a need
- Include instructions and statements based on best practice and professional standards of care and reflect the policies and procedures of IGNIS CARE LIMITED
- For any clinical needs, reflect how those clinical needs are to be met and by whom, reflecting the Royal Marsden Guidelines (2020) for Clinical Procedures
- Reflect the recommendations of any external specialist service providers who have relevant input into the Service Users' physical, psychological or social health and wellbeing
- State in clear and factual language, the detailed Support, treatment and support instructions required to instruct staff to meet the Service User's needs identified by the individual assessment procedures
- Include any elements of care, treatment and support that meet the equality and diversity needs of the Service User which must be designed not to constrain choices offered to the Service User because of their personal values, ethnicity, age, gender, gender orientation, disability, nationality or religious beliefs
- Ensure Support Workers are able to deliver care and support in a way that respects the Service Users' cultural, religious and communication needs

The Care Plan must be clear and easily understood by the Service User and their signature should be held on the Care Plan documents as evidence of their understanding and agreement to its contents.

When Service Users do not wish to sign the Care Plan, this decision must be recorded in the Care Plan by the Registered Manager and there should be a supporting witness signature.

IGNIS CARE LIMITED will consider alternatives to a wet signature, such as audio recordings and video recordings.

Care Plans are to be developed by staff who are competent in the Care Plan process and who have the knowledge to inform and involve Service Users in all stages of the Care Plan process.

All sections of the Care Plan documents should be completed or, if not deemed appropriate to that Service User, the words 'not applicable' must be entered on the document which should be signed and dated to indicate that this area is not applicable, stating reasons where possible. No section of the Care Plan procedure format should be left blank; if not required, the section can be removed.

All Care Plan instructions carried out by staff must be recorded by those staff, reasonably contemporaneously. Other actions and matters which may provide useful information for a subsequent review must also be recorded.

5.9 Personalised Support

When personalised Support is fully in place, Service Users will have a better experience of health and care with IGNIS CARE LIMITED.

Successful personalised Care Plans need to be developed with Service Users, not done to them. The key features of personalised Support should include:

Enabling Service Users to maintain and develop their personal identity during and after their engagement with IGNIS CARE LIMITED promotes dignity and has a positive impact on their sense of identity and mental wellbeing.

5.10 Writing a Person-Centred Care Plan

Care Plans must be written based on:

- Ability - What can the Service User do?
- Wishes - How does the Service User want to be supported?
- Needs - What does the Service User need support with?
- Outcomes - What is the expectation/outcome for the Service User?

Documentation

Staff have a professional responsibility to ensure that records provide an accurate account of treatment, Support planning and delivery, and are viewed as a tool for communication within the team. There should be clear evidence of the Support planned, the decisions made, the Support delivered and the information shared. The content and quality of record keeping are a measure of standards of practice relating to the skills and judgement of the staff member.

General Principles

- Entries must be written legibly in black, and are readable when photocopied
- Entries should be factual, consistent, accurate and not contain jargon, abbreviations or meaningless phrases
- Each entry must include the date and time (using the 24 hour clock)
- Each entry must be followed by a signature and the name printed as well as the job role

5.11 Digital Support Planning

Digital systems can mean good outcomes for people who use services, for providers and for the broader health and care system.

They can:

- Provide ‘real time’ information recording about the care and support people need and receive
- Help providers and Support Workers to be more aware when people’s needs change, and respond to them more quickly
- Offer the ability to use and compare data to improve Service User Support
- Help information to be shared quickly, accurately and safely to support the provision of health and care services
- Help to minimise risks such as medication errors, dehydration or missed support
- Help to support other important health and care functions, such as service management, planning and research
- Make it easier for people who use services to access their own records
- Help to manage and support staff to do their job effectively and efficiently
- Be easier to store, requiring less physical space
- Support better use of resources across the health and care system

What does a good digital records system look like?

A good records system delivers good outcomes from the point of view of people who use services. These outcomes are the same whether the records are kept digitally or on paper, although what providers need to do to deliver them might vary. Good outcomes for Service Users are captured by the following 'I statements'.

These are worded from the perspective of Service Users.

I have records that:

- Are person-centred - They describe what is important to me, including my needs, preferences and choices
- Are accessible - I can see the information that is important to me, in a way that I choose, and I can understand
- Are legible - Information about me is recorded clearly and can be easily read by the people who support me

- Are accurate - Information about me is correct and does not contain errors
- Are complete - There is no relevant or essential information about me that is missing
- Are up to date - They contain the latest relevant and essential information about me
- Are always available to the people who need to see them when they need them
- Are secure - My privacy and confidentiality are protected. Only the people who should see my records can see them (records are kept in line with data protection legislation, including UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR) requirements)
- Help the service that supports me to have good quality assurance systems and processes. They help the provider to assess, monitor and minimise the risks to my health, safety and wellbeing. They help the service that supports me to keep improving

What standards do digital records need to meet?

All records must also comply with:

- Regulation 17 Health and Social Care Act 2008 (Regulated Activities) Regulations 2014
- Data protection legislation (including UK GDPR) requirements
- Accessible Information Standard
- Data Security and Protection Toolkit (where providers have access to NHS patient data and systems)

5.12 Review and Reassessment Process

Care Plans are flexible, meaning that when or if the Service Users' Support needs change, the plan will be reviewed and adjusted accordingly to make sure it meets their needs and preferences.

Care Plan reviews should look at the records generated by staff in order to judge the success of the Care Plan in achieving the planned outcomes. They should also identify changes to the Care Plan which are required to meet existing, changed or new needs.

Service User Decisions and Consent

There must be a review of Service Users' consent and any decision making they have been involved in related to their care, treatment and support.

Where Service Users lack the mental capacity to be involved in reviews, a multi-agency review will take place, where possible, with

- A Court of Protection Appointed Deputy
  - Property and Finance
  - Health and Welfare
- Advocate involvement
- Other legally appointed representative

Service User Review Involvement

The review is an ongoing process and Service Users should be actively involved in the review of their desired outcomes. They will have the opportunity to alter their desired outcomes or Care Plan implementation at any time.

Risk Review

The assessment of individual risks will be reviewed on an individual basis when there are any indications of altered risks. This includes both positive changes and a reduction in risk, or negative changes and an increased risk.

Timescales for Review

- Routine reviews will be carried out within 6 weeks from the start of the service and then at least annually or at any more frequent intervals specified. Reassessments may vary in their review period according to Service User risks and needs
- Any change in need for the Service User will require a Care Plan review
- Routine reviews will include a review of visit records since the previous review date. This will allow IGNIS CARE LIMITED to identify any Service User concerns which may indicate a need for a particular assessment review, and to gather additional information regarding the Service User's perception of their daily wellbeing
- Any new issues which are identified during any scheduled Support provision must be reported to Mrs Miriam Chengeto Cummings so that any action can be taken and, where required, a review of the Service User's Care Plan can be initiated immediately

Reviews

All relevant staff will be involved in the Care Plan and its review.

- Individual elements of the overall Care Plan can have different scheduled review periods
- Following Care Plan reviews, the staff skill mix and designated staff linked to the Service User will be reassessed to ensure that the changed Service User requirements can be met
- The involvement of the Service User in the process, the choices offered and the responses must all be recorded

Changing Needs

- The review of the Service User's needs may indicate changed needs which require a full, in-depth review of elements of assessment or a comprehensive assessment of needs
- Any change to the Service User's needs, as identified during a review, will be subject to a reassessment and the Care Plan will be changed and redesigned in order to meet the changed needs

Reassessment

- The Service User must be involved in the reassessment processes wherever possible
- The assessment of Service User requirements, or any professional assessment of needs, will be reviewed when there are changes in the Service User's requirements, or changes in their accommodation or physical, psychological or social wellbeing
- Any changes in assessment outcomes will immediately result in a new Care Plan to meet the changed needs

Tenancy Review

IGNIS CARE LIMITED will work in partnership with any housing provider partner to ensure the Service User's accommodation and tenancy needs are met and remain appropriate.

- The Registered Manager or a nominated person will audit Care Plans monthly. Audits must be kept as evidence for compliance monitoring purposes
- Where there are shortfalls in the standard of documentation, this will be addressed by the Registered Manager who will give clear directions for improvement to appropriate individuals
- The analysis of the Care Plan audits will be reported to the management meeting and, where improvements can be made, an action plan will be put in place to track the completion of them

5.16 Learning and Development

All staff should have privacy and dignity training which should focus on meeting the personalised needs of each Service User.

In addition, relevant staff who implement and contribute to the Care Plan process must have relevant Care Plan training which highlights how to implement a plan of Support that is personalised, responsive to individual needs and focused on choice and independence, and which promotes positive risk taking and a multidisciplinary approach.

Your System details are incomplete and so the content of this policy may not be customised to your organisation.

This list is not exhaustive and there will be additional policies and procedures in place to support specific Service User needs. Staff must seek clarification from their line manager or the Registered Manager, Mrs Miriam Chengeto Cummings, if there is any uncertainty.

Staff supporting any specialist area of need will receive appropriate induction and training. They will complete competency assessments, where required, to meet the needs of Service Users as outlined in the Training Policy and Procedure at IGNIS CARE LIMITED.

To ensure Service Users receive person-centred care and support from IGNIS CARE LIMITED, staff must adhere to the following :

6. Definitions

6.1 Care/Support Planning
- An audited way of planning person-centred care/support which should be completed and reviewed in partnership with the Service User wherever capacity allows
- Support planning is only delivered with the consent of the Service User or their legal representative if the Service User is unable due to lack of capacity
- It forms the way Support is to be carried out
- A Care Plan is a living document and can be either paper or electronic. It should be changed after review to represent the changing life of the Service User
- A Care Plan is individual and owned by the Service User who can see or have it reviewed when they wish
- Support planning should be joined up to any other care or treatment the Service User is receiving to ensure a seamless service

6.2 End of Life Care
- End of life care is support for people who are in the last months or years of their life
- End of life care should help Service Users to live as well as possible until they die, and to die with dignity
- The people providing care should ask about the Service User's wishes and preferences and take these into account as they work to plan their care. They should also support families, carers or other people who are important to the Service User

6.3 Risk Assessment
- A process to look at any risks to safety that an action may cause the Service User or aspects of the wider service
- Where risks are identified, a mitigation to the risk should be decided upon, or an alternative action
- Risk assessments should be reviewed, and changes in Support may have an effect on the risk assessment

6.4 Assessment
- A process to identify what a person's Support needs are against agreed criteria

6.5 Review
- A review may trigger a 'reassessment' if a review finds it is not working or changes need to be made
- Checking that the assessed needs and the Support put in place to address those needs are right and working for the Service User
- A review is a formal reconsideration of the individual's needs and the appropriateness of the continuance of the Care Plan
- A review should be multidisciplinary, if appropriate, and carried out in a sensitive and person-centred manner

6.6 Person-Centred Care
- This is support or care planned around an individual, not a standard set of actions or 'one size fits all' solution
- This takes into consideration the diverse needs and wishes of individuals in a service tailored for them

6.7 UK General Data Protection Regulation
- The UK law on data protection and privacy for all individuals

6.8 Consent
- Consent can only be given by the Service User. Service Users are able to give valid consent as long as they have sufficient understanding to fully comprehend what is being proposed
- This includes:
  - Having the capacity to make treatment decisions
  - Being able to weigh the risks and benefits involved
  - Understanding, in broad terms, the nature and purpose of the Support
- The Principles of the Mental Capacity Act will be followed with regards to capacity and consent
